

Abstract

Miss. Alaa Attia

Supply chain resilience: investigating the Egyptian tourism industry situation after the Arab spring

This paper aims to add to the accumulative knowledge in the field through investigating the current situation of tourism industry in Egypt from a supply chain perspective, and how tourism businesses in Egypt understand the concept of resilience. Such investigation will help in achieving a deep and reflective understanding of current supply chain problems as issues affecting Egyptian tourism. Then identifying the main practices deployed by this sector to mitigate supply chain disruptions.