

Abstract

Moustafa Hussein Aly

Stabilization of Bit-Rate x Repeater Spacing Product in High-Speed Optical Communication Networks

Stabilization of the product "bit rate x repeater spacing" of high speed performance optical communication networks is investigated, where ultra wide wavelength division multiplexing (UWDM) and space division multiplexing (SDM) techniques are employed.