

Abstract

Moustafa Hussein Aly

Eliminating Dispersion and ISI in Optical Wireless Environment Using Optical DFT OFDM System

All optical orthogonal frequency division multiplexing (OFDM) is used to achieve high bit rate and eliminate intersymbol interference in optical wireless communications. Overall architecture is enlightened and analytical evaluation is presented for direct and diffused environment.