

Abstract

Khaled Mahar

Adaptive Web Sites based on the ACM Incremental Mining

due to the increasing numbers of userswebsites on the internet as well as the increasing demands of web usersthe size of competition it has become inevitable for companiesorganizations to move towards adaptive websites. adaptive websites are websites that automatically themselves according to the user access patternsbehaviors. several approaches have been introduced in this matter. in this paper, we present an approach for developing adaptive websites based on the acm incremental mining.