

Abstract

Darwish Abdelaziz Mohamed

A more comprehensive analysis of microstrip antennas in the spectral domain

This paper presents the calculation of the resonance frequency using the potential approach in the spectral domain with (2,1) basis functions. A comparison between the calculated resonance frequencies which are determined using different models (Transmission line model, Cavity model, potential approach, and immittance method) is carried out.