

Abstract

Darwish Abdelaziz Mohamed

Comprehensive performance analysis of radar using different types of sweep modulation

The wide spread of radars that use band linear FM pulses increases the demand for investigating the radio frequency interference between such radars. This paper reviews some approximate methods of calculating the radio frequency interference.