

Abstract

Mega Carriers Operating Strategy in the Mediterranean within the Current Developments in Container Shipping

This dissertation aims at studying the current developments in liner and container shipping and identifying the points of strengths and weaknesses of such developments with view to analysing their impact on the operating strategies of mega container companies especially in the region of the Mediterranean.