

Abstract

Ayman H Metwally

“A Proposed Model for the Sustainable Development of Human Resources: An Application on the Egyptian Tourism Industry

The aim of this paper to examine the applicability of the measure developed in our earlier work on the sustainable use of resources. The paper further investigates the effect of the elements of human resource development on our purposed measure of human resource sustainability. Results allow for the partial acceptance of proposed hypothesis furthermore, a proposed model for the sustainable use of human resources is developed.