

Abstract

Aly H Abdalla

Corrosion Fitness-for-Service Assessment of Pipelines Using a New Algorithm

Assessment of aging pipeline under external corrosion can be achieved through inspection with standard codes. This paper focuses on quantitative assessment of the corrosion pipelines using simple software. The algorithm is based on the ASME B31G code. The software is intended to assist the decision maker of right action of maintenance depending on standard code