CS143-Introduction to Problem Solving and Programming

Files

- 1. Write a program that reads strings from the user and writes them to a text file.
- 2. Open the file for reading and display its contents on screen.
- 3. Write the words that start with a specific character c to a new file.
- 4. Add a new set of words to the original file (input from user).