

investment structures enjoyed by the company, as well as its expected business results and economic activity. -This research proposes limiting the fixed assets of the Egyptian shipping companies, whether the assets utilized in a non-economic, unused way, selling them at remunerative prices without affecting the activity of these companies, as well as speeding the completion of the projects; investments that are economically viable, still under implementation; on the other hand, freezing working on getting rid of the projects that are ineffective. Also, setting the legislative, administrative investment requirements needed for speeding the performance inside the Egyptian ports in accordance with the concepts of modern logistics to achieve the efficiency of future performance of these companies.